

Primary industry role for school head

A HOBART primary school principal will lead a push to promote primary industries in schools nationwide.

Ben Stockwin will leave Abbotsfield Primary at Claremont to set up the Primary Industries Education Foundation as interim chief executive.

The foundation aims to promote the sector on the national curriculum, which is open for public comment.

“The aim is to lift awareness of the role of the primary industry sector in our community, our economy and our long-term sustainability.” Mr Stockwin said.
